Introduction

Brand Story

The name, “Aqara” is derived from two Latin words: “acutus” (smart) and “ara” (home). We believe that everyone deserves smart home solutions that beautifully designed, long-lasting, and easy to use. Aqara offers a wide range of smart products ranging from a variety of smart sensors to switches, curtain controllers, and smart door locks.

Aqara is owned by Lumi United Technology, which is founded in 2009 and is currently one the largest smart home providers in China. Over the last few years, Aqara has opened more than 700 Aqara stores to provide more personalized smart home solutions for individual households and businesses.

Currently, Aqara serves over 7 million Aqara users world-wide, with distribution partners in the United States, Europe, Southeast Asia, Korea, and China. The Company also offers one of the most comprehensive suite of HomeKit compatible smart home solutions in the market, and its products can also be found in Apple Stores across Europe and Asia. As we continue to expand our global footprint, we hope to bring more accessible, smart home technology to households around the world.
